ASSOCIATION MEN ARE VOTING TODAY

Madison Electing Four Delegates To Burley Tobacco Convention Here Tuesday

Madison county members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association are voting today for four delegates to the district meeting Tuesday when a director for this district will be chosen on the State Board of Directors. The district meeting for this the 19th district, will be held here Tuesday. Counties in this district are Madison, Jessamine, Laurel, Rockcastle and Jackson. At the district meeting Madison will have four votes and Jessamine three votes.

The tobacco polls are open at the court house with Messrs. J. R. McKinney, Douglas Chenault, A. K. McCown, Waller Chenault, and James J. Neale as election officers. The voting is by open ballot. The following gentlemen were nominated for delegates, the four receiving the highest vote to be elected: T. S. Burnam, T. J. Curtis, T. D. Chenault, Jr., B. J. Broadbent, L. N. Neale, Wm. Arbuckle, Waller Bennett and T. S. Hagan.

With the election of directors today, the Cooperative Marketing Association of burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia and Ohio, with a membership of more than 50,000 will come into legal and formal existence. According to present plans, a statement issued from the organization headquarters at Lexington said, marketing of tobacco will be begun in the next few weeks and it is probable as much as ten million pounds will be sold before the first of the year.

The attitude of the "Big Four" manufacturers, as ascertained by representatives of the association it was said, indicates that they will deal with the association readily on a basis that will insure a fair profit to the grower.

With probably no more than four exceptions, all warehouses in the four states have agreed to close their floors for the sale of burley tobacco, to await the action of the association in taking them over by lease or purchase. A committee has been active in arranging the details of the transfer, which involves title to millions of dollars worth of real estate. The members of the committee believe that everything will be ready to receive tobacco within a few days after the election is ready for delivery.

The association now controls, it was said, more than 84.85 percent of the burley tobacco production of the five states. This percentage, announced at the close of the canvassing campaign on a basis of reports from county chairmen, has been increased by a period of supplementary signing of contracts from Nov. 28 to Dec. 10. This is still in progress in sections where little organization work has been done and final figures are not available.

Financial success of the marketing of the 1921 crop, according to the statement, was assured to the last detail on Nov. 22, when all of the commercial banks in Louisville agreed to lend money to the association for temporary funding of advance payments to growers to the legal limit of their capital, totaling $1,500,000.

As a permanent source of credit, the association has the standing offer of the War Finance Corporation and the Federal Reserve System made in rulings by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the reserve system and by the agricultural agency of the War Finance Corporation as well as its directors. The association, it is claimed, can obtain from these sources fifty per cent of the current market value of the tobacco.

Here's Yap Again

The cable was seized during the war, sealed and never has been unsealed so far as they know.

In addition, the National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in the United States, has sent a representative to Kentucky to confer with leaders of the cooperative association in regard to permanent loans on security of warehouse receipts issued against stored tobacco.

In addition, ninety-eight per cent of the Kentucky banks outside of Louisville have agreed to back the cooperative movement to the full extent of available funds.

The election today is the culmination of a campaign inaugurated March 25, 1921, at a meeting of tobacco growers. Robert W. Bingham, publisher of the Courier Journal and Louisville Times, and originator of the cooperative burley movement heads an executive committee of four which has had charge of the campaign from that date. It is planned to form a similar association among dark tobacco growers of Kentucky and Tennessee as soon as details of the burley association are perfected.

The burley association will be controlled by 25 directors, 23 of whom will be elected from the membership of the association by the growers, one vote to each member. Three directors will be chosen by the other directors to represent the interests of the public in the association and will not necessarily be members of the organization.

The burley district has been divided into 22 districts or approximately eight million pounds production each. From each district a delegate will be elected in a primary election for each million pounds of tobacco produced and these delegates will in turn elect the director for that district.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS HERE THIS WEEK

Prominent Church Workers To Speak Under Inter-Denominational Auspices

Following Dr. Vance's great messages last week at the First Presbyterian church, Richmond is again privileged to hear this week some of the great outstanding leaders of religious thought in America.

Dr. Henry Dosker, of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Louisville, brought two great messages Sunday, speaking first in the First Presbyterian church at 3 p. m. and again to a large audience in the First Christian church at night.

Dr. Chas. I. Alexander, of Kansas City, delivered his first address in the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon and will speak in the Christian church Monday night at 7 o'clock and will speak again in the Presbyterian and Christian churches at 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Dr. Alexander is one of the great Bible teachers of America. He is a former pastor of John D. Rockefeller's church and also of the First church of New Orleans, one of the largest in the city.

Dr. L. W. Munhall, of Philadelphia, will speak on next Wednesday and Thursday at 3 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church and at 7 p. m. in the First Christian church.

Dr. Munhall has possibly spoken to more people than any other living preacher. He is editor and owner of the Eastern Methodist Advocate of Philadelphia, and was offered one hundred dollars a day by the Redpath Clanton to give his great lecture on the "Book of Psalms," that is said to be the greatest single address ever written.

Dr. Munhall has given this great address in Boston twelve times to packed houses.

Dr. J. W. Lawrence, of Dallas, Texas, will be the speaker for Friday and Saturday. Dr. Lawrence is a great evangelistic preacher. He was for two years pastor of the great Congregational church at Dallas and followed as pastor the great Sciofield, who compiled the reference Bible so largely used today.

This is a great team of speakers that is being brought to Richmond and it is hoped that our people as largely as possible will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear them.

YAP CONTROVERSY SETTLED AT LAST

Washington, Dec. 12—The controversy between Japan and the United States over Yap Island is settled and the terms will be announced this afternoon, Secretary Hughes told the Far Eastern conference today. It is understood the treaty gives the United States certain definite rights as to Yap Island, including the cable rights.

British Delegates Leave

Washington, Dec. 12—All the British delegates to the armament conference, with the exception of British Ambassador Geddes, have arranged to sail for home December 31st, feeling that main issues of the conference will be disposed of by that time.

Chatanooga, Dec. 12—H. Clay Evans, former United States Commissioner of Pensions, died suddenly at his home here today aged 78.

CHICAGO GUNMAN IN SENSATIONAL ESCAPE

Chicago, Dec. 12—Tom O'Connor, gunman sentenced to be hanged next Thursday for murder, and two other notorious criminals Sunday escaped from county jail, fighting their way past half a dozen guards, most of whom were beaten into unconsciousness by the desperadoes in their dash for liberty.

Starting in the fourth floor "bull pen," where the prisoners were exercising at 11 o'clock, the break for freedom led down five floors through the basement, into the jail yard and over a 12-foot wall to a street where an automobile was confiscated.

Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris, assumed personal charge of the chase. Scores of policemen, armed with shotguns, were placed on the murderer's trail, to each of them Chief Fitzmorris gave these instructions:

"The only way to get rid of murderers like O'Connor is to put them in the morgue. Shoot to kill and aim straight."

Another Convict Riot

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 12—A riot among prisoners at the branch of the Michigan state reformatory here during a moving picture exhibition Sunday morning, was quelled after Warden T. B. Catlin had received nine knife wounds. Deputy Warden Menemitt had been badly beaten and the latter's son, Arthur Menemitt, who was visiting his father at the prison, had been stabbed in the lungs.

Fitzmorris After O'Connor

Chicago, Dec. 12—Charles Fitzmorris, chief of police, today threatened to suspend any policeman who tries to capture "Lucky" Thomas O'Connor alive and be promised promotion to any man who would bring him in dead. "He will never surrender as long as he can shoot," the chief said, "and I don't want any of my men to take any chances. Fitzmorris is bitter in his denunciation of conditions at the county jail where O'Connor yesterday overpowered four guards, beat them with a pistol he unorthodoxly obtained and escaped down the jail elevator."

Saw Him in Detroit

Chicago, Dec. 12—The chief of police of Detroit, Mich., today telegraphed the Chicago chief of police that one of three men seen fleeing in a stolen automobile there answered to O'Connor's description.

EDUCATIONAL BOARD MAKES SUGGESTIONS

Extensive Recommendations To Improve Conditions In State By Survey Commission

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 12—The educational machinery in Kentucky is antiquated and inadequate; pupils instructed in the schools are not up to the standard of other sections and virtually the entire rural school plant needs rebuilding, the Educational Survey Commission, appointed by Gov. Edwin P. Morrow under an act of the 1920 legislature, declares in its report just completed and now in course of publication by the General Education Board of New York. Many changes looking to the betterment of the schools of the state are recommended in the report which, when printed, will fill a volume of 213 pages.

Among the important recommendations of the commission are:

Eventual erection of five more normal schools.
Establishment immediately of one more white normal and preferably two, one to be located in the Big Sandy Valley and the other in the western part of the state east of the Tennessee river.

Strengthening the Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute for the training of colored persons.

Abandonment of the Western Kentucky Industrial College at Paducah and establishment of a new colored teacher training school in western Kentucky.

Increase the minimum county school tax to 35 cents and the maximum to $1.

Abolish the present graded school district plan and return all graded schools to county supervision.

Abolish the ex officio Board of Education and supplant it with a board that will properly represent the school interests of the state.

Give the State Board of Education, through the executive office, power to remove common school officers, both elected and appointed, for cause after due notice and opportunity for public hearing.

Abolish the State Board of Examiners, the Vocational Education Board and the State Text Book Commission and transfer their duties to a State Board of Education.

Adopt a single school code for all cities in the state.

State certification of all superintendents and teachers.

Abolish the old six-day teaching institute.

Continue the County Summe School plan of 1921 with the state paying half the cost.

Abolish the one-room rural school where possible in favor of the consolidated school.

Abolish high school work at the normal school at Bowling Green and Richmond and make them strictly training schools for teachers who have had high school work.

Convert the Department of Education at the University of Kentucky into a College of Education with the same standing as the colleges of agriculture and engineering.

The commission goes extensively into all phases of the educational situation in the state and in arriving at its conclusions, according to the letter of submission made written tests of 15,707 school children of the fifth, seventh and ninth grade in nine representative counties and fifteen cities. In addition data on pupil progress was collected in the nine counties and from 222 graded

FOUR MORE DAYS AND CONTEST CLOSES

MRS. BEN F. EDWARDS

The attractive and accomplished wife of Ben F. Edwards, County School Superintendent, is well known throughout the county, and especially by the teachers and those interested in the great cause of better education, as she has given her full support to this cause since she came to Richmond.

Mrs. Edwards has assisted in work in the County Superintendent's office for the past two years, and has won many staunch friends by her pleasing and courteous manner and her full cooperation in the education of the children of this county.

She wishes to inform her friends that she is still in race of the goal and has a good opportunity to win one of the grand prizes offered by the Daily Register in the big automobile contest which closes next Friday, Dec. 16th, at noon. She asks all her friends who have promised her subscriptions to please send them to her at once, as she has only a few days left before the close. She also desires to thank those who have assisted her, for their kindness, and asks them to continue their support to the end.

MOB OF WOMEN STOP KANSAS MINERS

(By Associated Press)
Pittsburgh, Kan., Dec. 12—A mob of women estimated at 2,000—wives and sweethearts of striking coalminers—adherents of Alexander Howar, stormed a mine here early today and prevented the miners employed at the mine going to work. Sheriff Gold and three deputies were powerless before the women who prevented miners leaving the interminable cars which brought them to work.

BANK BANDITS WORK IN PANAMA, ILL.

(By Associated Press)
Greenville, Ill., Dec. 12—Four bandits entered Farmers' near here today, robbed the Bank of Panama of between $25,000 and $30,000, held up seven men in a pool room near the bank, wounded an automobile party whom the bandits believed were pursuing them, and escaped.

Friday, Dec. 16th, At 12 M. Last Possible Moment Subscriptions Can Be Turned in to Office— Winners Will Be Announced in Friday's Afternoon Paper.

In order to give the judge who will be named to decide the winners in the Daily Register big subscription campaign, an opportunity to consult the various votes, the office has decided to close at 12 noon, Friday, at noon, the last day of December 15, a preliminary announcement in Friday's paper. Also the judges will not have a work into the night, as the vote.

All subscriptions must be in the office by that time as the judges will also be the winners in time to be published in Friday's Daily Register.

All candidates are asked to please report promptly Friday morning and bring all vote receipts with them that they have in the subscription books, so that they may be counted.

Positively, not a subscription will be counted after the town clock strikes 12 noon, and if you are holding back any subscriptions, you had better bring them in at once as the bonus vote has closed and there will be no more extra votes. There are only allowed the regular vote on subscriptions.

To this date there are several candidates who are running very close and it is a horse race between the leaders. In all probability the largest amount of subscriptions turned in this week will tell the tale on the automobiles and grand prizes, as for the last several weeks the candidates have been changing places and not any three weeks has any one candidate held the same position in the list.

Remember there are no losers in this contest, provided you work actively to the end, as the Daily Register is going to pay you a liberal commission on all subscriptions turned in, if you fail to win a grand prize or a special prize offered during the contest.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12.—Home made candies are becoming more popular as Christmas gifts in the opinion of George T. Settle, librarian of the Louisville Free Library. Recipes for home-made fudge, seafoam, and chocolates are more in demand as Christmas draws near, he said. Plays, songs, and stories written for Christmas time, he says, also are growing in popularity.

"Moonshiner" Believes In Advertising His Goods

North Carolina has a moonshiner who believes in advertising his wares. Revenue officer in Asheville recently came across a bottle bearing a unique label which they sent to Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair. himself a North Carolinian. This label was the advertisement of the moonshiner, and it read as follows:

"This mountain corn liquor bottled in a barn. Made in the backwoods of the mountains of Western North Carolina by an old-time blockader that don't give a damn for laws and prohibition. Retailed on the Asheville market by all the high class bootleggers for five bones per pint, and worth every cent of it. Guaranteed to be strong enough to make you drunk as the devil in ten minutes and mean enough to make a baby bull frog spit in a while's face. Shake well and get ready to have a fit before drinking."

The label has been added to the Internal Revenue Bureau's Museum.

EDUCATIONAL REVIEW

school districts and 47 cities or a total of 136,828 children and on 11,712 of the 13,563 teachers in the state. Questionnaires were sent to all city superintendents, graded school principals, and county superintendents for information on school finances, length of school day, and term, consolidated schools, provisions for supervisors, attendance officers, medical inspection, school nurse, office equipment and clerical assistance.

The commission was composed of Dr. W. A. Canfield, former president of Centre College, Danville, chairman; Alex G. Barrett, Louisville; J. L. Harman, Bowling Green; C. J. Haydon, Springfield; and Katie McDonald, Hopkinsville. The commission received $10,000 from the state and $15,000 from the General Education Board. The latter submitting the report to the governor says that the members received nothing for their time and only necessary traveling expenses which came under $1,000. Eight thousand dollars was used to pay part of the expense of the survey, and $1,000 to pay part of the expense of printing the report. The General Education Board paid the remainder.

The commission spent fifteen months on the survey during which Dr. Frank P. Bachman, of the General Education Board, visited 66 counties, making careful studies in thirty-three and studied conditions in about half of the cities of the state. Educators from throughout the state gave active assistance. Dean M. E. Haggerty of the University of Minnesota, assisted in the testing of pupils who turned in 59,000 papers which were graded and tabulated.

The commission made many recommendations regarding the needs of teachers, and county and state superintendents. Some of the more important follow:

Issue only one grade of each class of certificates as soon as possible.

Abolish continuous teachers' examinations and make one examination suffice until the teacher has prepared for a higher grade certificate.

Fix an adequate teacher salary minimum according to the grade of certificate held.

Give the state superintendent adequate clerical, stenographic and professional staff.

Repeat the school building commission law of 1912.

Provide the county superintendents with adequate clerical help and have at least one supervisor for each county.

Immediate compliance with the compulsory attendance law.

Provide for transportation for county superintendents, attendance officers, school doctors and nurses.

Lengthen the school year and provide better pay for rural teachers than for city teachers.

Put school consolidations on the county basis instead of the present local basis.

Increase the state and county school funds.

Make school terms as nearly nine months as possible.

Have a uniform and arbitrary month of the school year.

Erect properly constructed and ventilated buildings.

The commission in its report summarized each section. Under the heading "State Organization," it said:

"The state now assume responsibility for public education. But the educational machinery of the state is antiquated and inadequate. The State Board of Education, by reason of its makeup, is incapable of performing the functions that naturally fall to such a body. (The board is composed of the Secretary of State, Attorney General and State Superintendent.) The State Superintendent whatever his character, personality, or training, is handicapped by party connections, limited tenure, and inadequate financial support. If the schools are to be effectively administered the present ex-officio board of education must be replaced by a properly constituted board; the State Superintendent must be taken out of partisan politics; the office must be placed on a professional basis, and its support must be made commensurate with its responsibilities and duties."

The commission expressed the opinion that the county unit school law of 1920 whereby the county superintendent was made appointive instead of elective, was "one of the few pieces of constructive educational legislation to be found in the entire history of the state" and said that there "naturally exists some discontent with the members" of the county boards chosen at the election in 1920 of the board which took office January 1, 1921, and with their first important act, the selection of a county superintendent. No such change could possibly be carried through without a certain amount of dissatisfaction. The remedy lies, however, not in a change of the law—the law is based on sound and well accepted principles—but in a wiser selection of county school board members by the people. The very exercise of the privilege will of itself tend to bring about the desired results.

The commission found that in many sections of the state nothing was thought of dismissing school an hour or two before the usual time and recommended that schools begin and close at a definite time.

A special paragraph was given in the report to the graded school districts in the coal producing counties of the state. "The coal companies appear friendly toward public education, enter actively into their management and seem to be doing a great deal more for schools than the law requires. But the arrangements are not infrequently of a paternalistic character. For example, a coal company builds and pays for a school house and either rents or gives it rent free to the board of trustees. If the funds available are not adequate for current maintenance, the company makes up the deficit. The company thus keeps itself before the community as a patron and appears to be doing more than its bare duty to the community. In many cases, however, if the usual tax was levied, the community could do all of these things—and more—for itself. Besides, it would own and control its own school plant; the school patrons would be accustomed to paying school taxes and the community would have a self respect impossible so long as it is the beneficiary of a corporation. In some places the law is plainly ignored. To illustrate: In certain districts no school tax is levied; the coal companies, without authority of law, hold out a certain amount monthly from the wages of miners, which, along with what the company donates, goes to support the school. The companies lead the communities to believe that they are expending on the schools far more than their ordinary school taxes, whereas in some instances they are saving hundreds, perhaps thousands of dollars annually. Needless to say this sort of thing should be stopped."

Dealing with graded districts the commission points out that in order to get the taxes from railways these districts are stretched out along railroad lines and thus deprive other parts of the county from the benefit of these taxes. This is one reason for abolishing the present system, the commission says.

"Speaking of rural schools, the commission said: "The conditions under which rural schools work preclude satisfactory results. Even when other conditions have been improved—when the teachers are better trained and better supervised and better facilities have been provided—children can not be satisfactorily taught until the school term is extended to nine months, until rural school attendance is greatly improved, and until a simplified program, adapted to rural conditions is prescribed. Nor will results ever

Mrs. Tipton Entertains

Mrs. Robert E. Tipton was hostess to the County Community Council at the Lafayette hotel in Lexington Saturday afternoon. The meeting was for the purpose of increasing the membership and plans for future work in this organization. They expect soon to establish county rest rooms and a traveling library which will be furnished by the county school boards. Mrs. Tipton while making her home in Lexington seven years ago, started this same movement there and it has been quite popular in that section. She frequently visits her sister, Mrs. James W. Hamilton here, and has numerous relatives and friends in Madison who will be interested to read of her wonderful and helpful work along this line.

Mrs. Roark Ill

Sad news comes to friends here of the critical illness of Mrs. Ruric M. Roark who is at a sanatorium in Baltimore, and has been invalid for many months. Her daughter, Mary Kathleen Roark, is with her there. She has two other children, Messrs. Creagan and Raymond Roark. The family lived in Lexington a number of years when the late Professor Roark was connected with the University of Kentucky leaving here for Richmond to take charge of the State Normal School when it was established. They have friends all over Kentucky. Mrs. Roark was also prominent in educational and civic work and one of the most enthusiastic and able members of the Woman's Club of Central Kentucky. Lexington Herald.

Mrs. Roark made many warm friends during her stay in Richmond, who greatly regret to know of her illness.

New Light on Batteries

"Since all batteries look so much alike on the outside, how am I going to tell which one has the most value inside?"

That is a practical every-day question and it has a simple every-day answer.

What greater assurance could you possibly have than the following combination of facts:

1—Extraordinary quantity in the battery itself, as shown by the choice of the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery as standard equipment by the manufacturers of 173 makes of cars and trucks.

2—A nation-wide organization to serve you—and

3—A record for quality and service dating back nearly to the beginning of the automobile.

You don't need a formal invitation. Come in any old time and get some new light on this battery question.

ALLMAN IS NEW MADISON CAPTAIN

The Madison Hi football team held their football banquet at the Kennedrich Friday evening and elected a captain for the year 1922. James Allman was chosen to lead the Madison eleven of 1922. Allman has played center for the Madison team during the past season and has covered himself with glory at that position. He has been a thorn in the enemy's side all season, making center backs almost impossible. He is every bit as good on the offense as on the defense. Throughout the season, he has made big holes for the Madison backs to plunge through. More ground has been gained by the Purples through his position than any other place in Madison's line. Allman played in eight games staged by Madison and did not have to be taken from a single contest on account of injury.

The whole Madison squad attended the "feed" besides the members of the local school board. Short talks were made by retiring captain Frank Hacker, captain elect Allman, coach Lassiter and the members of the school board. Although Madison loses over half of her team by graduation, the Purple and White backers are expecting as good or even better eleven in 1922.

If You Have Surplus Corn
(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12—There is a market for corn, according to Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Farm Bureau Federation, in spite of its present low price. Mr. Morgan in the most recent bulletin of the organization, asks that county farm bureaus which have a surplus of corn notify him at once. He says that he has received several letters from farm bureau members who want to buy corn in carlots.

CARPENTER IS NOW AS HAPPY AS A BOY

Takes Friends Advice and Says He is Now Feeling Like a New Man

"The friend who advised me to take Tania and said if it didn't help me he would pay for it out of his own pocket, certainly knew what he was talking about, as I'm like a new man now and feeling better than I have in years," said A. C. Carpenter, 1905 Virginia avenue, Huntington, W. Va.

"I was under treatment several times, but no one seemed to understand my case and I was getting steadily worse. I had no appetite, and although I ate very sparingly, I suffered for hours after every meal. I was bothered a good deal with headaches, too, and felt sluggish and drowsy all the time.

"It certainly was a big surprise the way Tania took hold of me and in a short time gave me an appetite and put my stomach in apple-pie order. I sleep like a top now and get up in the morning feeling as happy as a boy. Tania certainly did the work for me."

Tania is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and leading druggists.

DODGE TEAM MAKE THE BEST RECORD

With the local high schools having celebrated with banquets their season's work, members of the famous K. I. team of Richmond known as the Dodge Bros. club, are talking about a feel also. They are pointing with pride to their record of seven games without a defeat, a better record than either of the high schools could boast of. Under the able coaching of Frank Devore, their manager and organizer, the Dodgers rolled up a total of 140 points to 18 for their opponents. And the local lads went up against some mighty tough opposition at times meeting boys much older and far heavier in nearly every game. The complete list of the Dodge team's victories and the age and weight of every man on their regular team is as follows:

EDUCATIONAL REVIEW

erably lower than those in corresponding white schools the commission said:

"On the basis of the foregoing tests, it appears that the city elementary schools are below the standard reached in other states in some cases as much as a year. The showing of the rural elementary schools, especially of the one-room rural schools, is wretchedly poor; they are generally two or three years behind the standard.

"In a word, the unsatisfactory conditions in respect to the organization and administration of the public schools of Kentucky have their inevitable result. Politics, lack of training, lack of interest combine to render the schools of Kentucky among the very poorest that up to this time have been tested." Proper buildings and playgrounds are lacking in many rural schools.

Dealing with the methods of financing the schools, the commission says that it does not undertake to make recommendations regarding the percentage of state support that should be granted. In a number of the states, the report says, the support is almost entirely local, while in others it ranged close to fifty cents. It does recommend, however, an increase in the funds to be provided both by the state and counties and also for increased funds for teacher training in the state university and normal schools.

Dealing with the West Kentucky Industrial College at Paducah, the commission after stating the facilities, says:

"The program advertised covers the eight grades of the elementary school, a three-year normal school course based on a three-year high school course, business course of indefinite length and miscellaneous courses in public school music and piano. The normal school course as such is a myth. Such teacher training as is undertaken consists chiefly of review courses and a summer school for teachers. The total enrollment for the spring term 1920-21 was elementary grades, 100; high school grades, 48. The school is managed almost as if were a private institution. A tuition fee of $8 per term is charged, with registration and laboratory fees. The principal also solicits private subscriptions and apparently has little appreciation of his relations to the state. The accounts and records of the school are in a deplorable condition.

"This school should be abandoned in favor of a new school to be established near the western center of colored population at a probable cost of $100,000 for buildings, and $20,000 per year for current expenses. If a new school is not established, the state should stop its appropriation to the West Kentucky Industrial College, sell the farm and return the property originally deeded to the state to its former owner, the principal of the school."

BEREA STUDENT TELLS OF ARMY ATROCITY

Jacob Altschuler, student at Berea College, whose home is in Brooklyn, N. Y., is among former service men of the nation and the only one from Kentucky to be summoned to Washington to testify during the inquiry before a special Senate committee into the charges of Senator Thomas Watson, of Georgia, that soldiers were executed during the war without conviction by court martial.

Notification for him to appear followed receipt in Washington of a letter in which Altschuler told of the alleged killing of a private by a sentry at the order of an officer in France.

In an interview, Altschuler stated that he reported the incident in fulfillment of a vow which he and other comrades made at the time to do all they could to see that justice was done when they had come back to the United States.

"I was not a witness to the actual killing," he said, "but I saw about a hundred yards away, saw the commotion and knew that the soldier had been killed. The circumstances were related to me by a comrade who saw the tragedy and who came to me here. I was working immediately afterwards. We were members of Company H, 20th Infantry. We were so horror-struck by the brutality of the thing that none of us slept that night and we all made a vow to report the case when we were discharged and free to talk."

"The killed was a private named Frey. He was a Quaker and a conscientious objector. He was willing to work, but said his religion forbade his carrying a gun. There was a lieutenant, a captain and a major at our camp."

"As the history of the affair was related to me, the lieutenant first ordered the man to carry his gun. Frey refused and the lieutenant reported the case to the captain. The captain's order likewise met with refusal and he made a report to the major. The latter went to where Frey was and ordered him to take up the rifle. The officer then ordered a sentry to stand on guard with his bayonet, and in substance said:

"If this private does not pick up this gun when I give him the order, you let him have it."

"Looking him level in the eye, Frey again refused to touch the gun. The sentry obeyed his order, and Frey fell dead from the bayonet thrust. The names of all parties concerned and the details of the incident are in Washington."

FOUR BREATHITT RAIDERS CAPTURED

Jackson, Dec. 12—Four men were arrested Sunday night on Lost Creek, 12 miles from here, by 25 state guardsmen and a posse of deputies from the sheriff's office, charged with having participated early Saturday morning in an attempt to free prisoners from the county jail which resulted in the death of Albert Roberts, nephew of Jailer A. A. Allen, and the probably fatal wounding of the jailer's daughter, Miss Maggie Allen, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Oscar Allen.

According to a telephone message received from Lost Creek, the names of the men arrested are as follows: Breathitt Noble, Beecher Noble, Sam Grigsby and a man named Watts.

Bud Noble, alleged by the women, who are now in the Bach hospital, to have been the leader of the band, is missing from his home in the section of the county where the arrest was made. His whereabouts are not known.

Captain Holbrook, with a detachment of soldiers from Whitesburg, who have been scouting the hills for the members of the party, are still on guard over the town.

Circuit Judge Sam Hurst said today that the term of court would be extended four weeks or more or as long as necessary for a trial and that the soldiers would be held as long as was necessary.

It is thought that possibly one cause for the attempted delivery is that Sam Grigsby's son, Alton, 17 years old is in the jail at Jackson.
